

Wilson Announces Winner of 6th Congressional District High School Art Exhibition

Congressman Charlie Wilson is pleased to announce the winner of the 6th Congressional District High School Art Exhibition. The art show was held this past weekend at The Rio Grande Community College in Pomeroy, Ohio.

"I'm proud of all of the talented young artists who participated," Wilson said. "Our judges had to make a tough decision to choose a winner."

The winner is an oil painting, "Becky's Bow Oil," by Andrew Kasick, a senior at Marietta High School in Marietta, Ohio. Mr. Kasick's winning work of art will be displayed for a year in Washington, D.C. in the Capitol. Mr. Kasick will be attending Marietta College in the fall and plans to minor in art.

Congressman Wilson would like to thank the show's judges: Andrea Lewis, Executive Director of the Dairy Barn Art Center; and Meigs County Commissioner Mike Bartrum.

For photos from the exhibition, see below:

Rep. Wilson congratulates exhibition winner Andrew Kasick:

Andrew Kasick and his winning painting "Becky's Bow Oil":

